[Docket No. 90363-9063]
RIN: 0651-AA40
Patent and Trademark Automated Search System Fees

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of Proposed Rulemaking
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office proposes to amend the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases, Parts 1 and 2 to Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, to set forth charges that will be made to users of the text data bases resident on the Automated Patent System (APS) and the automated trademark search system (T-Search). Pub. L. 100-703, enacted on November 19, 1988, allows the Commissioner to establish reasonable fees for on-line access to the automated search systems.

The Office plans to provide on-line access to its USPAT data base (full text of U.S. patents issued after 1974), the U.S. classification data from 1790 to the present, and to English abstracts of Japanese and Chinese patents (to the extent they are available) hereinafter referred to as APS-Text, and T-Search in its Patent Search Room and Trademark Search Library located in Crystal City, Virginia. The Office does not plan to provide on-line access to its patent and trademark data bases at any other facilities at the present time.

The Office will be making both search systems available to the public free of charge during this rulemaking process for the purposes of self-education and training (familiarization).

The paper or microfilm collections of U.S. patents, foreign patent documents and U.S. trademark registrations continue to be available to the public free of charge as provided by section 104(b) of Pub. L. 100-703.

The proposed rule changes are intended to establish a basis for the charges for use of the on-line automated search systems. In addition, procedures for public use of the automated search systems, including training and charging of fees, are presented.
Dates: Written comments must be submitted on or before June 30, 1989; a public hearing will be held on June 30, 1989 at 9:00 a.m. Requests to present oral testimony should be received on or before June 29, 1989.
Addresses: Address written comments and requests to present oral testimony to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, Attention: Frances Michalkewicz, Suite 912 on the 9th floor of Building 2, Crystal Park, located at 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia. Written comments and a transcript of the public hearing will be available for public inspection in Suite 904 of Building 2, Crystal Park, at 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia.
For Further Information Contact: Frances Michalkewicz by telephone at (703) 557-1610 or by mail marked to her attention and addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: The purpose of the proposed rule change is to establish new fees for the on-line use of APS- Text, and T-Search that are to be provided in the Office's facilities in Crystal City, Virginia. This is consistent with the Office's Electronic Data Dissemination Policies and Guidelines, which is being published separately in this issue of the Federal Register as a final rule. Establishment and adjustment of patent fees is provided for by section 6 and section 41 of Title 35, United States Code, and section 103(b) of Pub. L. 100-703. Establishment and adjustment of trademark fees is provided for by section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1113) and section 103(a) of Pub. L. 100-703. Information on the procedures for public use of the automated systems, including training, waivers, and the charging of fees also are presented for information.
Background: In response to Public Law 96-517, the 1980 legislation which amended patent and trademark laws, the Office prepared and submitted a plan for the automation of its operations to Congress on December 13, 1982. The plan centered on two basic concepts: the creation of electronic data bases that (1) would eventually replace the Office's all-paper patent and trademark files, and thereby improve their integrity and quality; and (2) would support searches, examinations, Office actions and other Office functions through electronic workstations which would provide text and image retrieval capabilities and perform other automation functions.

Over 700,000 active Federal trademark registrations have been converted to an electronic data base and textual and digital image data. A computer system has been installed to enable examiners to search the data base for textual data and codes describing designs, and to retrieve and display all information as a substitute for paper file searches. Trademark examiners have been using T-Search exclusively since January 1988, and the capability is ready to be deployed for public use in the Trademark Search Library.

The T-Search "dead data base," trademarks cancelled, expired or abandoned since March 1984, also is available to the public, but approximately 17,000 images are missing and an additional 184,000 registrations and applications have not been quality checked. The trademark examining attorneys do not search this data base. The Office is soliciting the public's comments as to whether this data base should be compared to the paper copy and corrected for use by public searchers at a cost projected to be about $250,000.

An Automated Patent System (APS) was installed for test and evaluation purposes, using one patent examining group as an operational testbed. Major operational components of APS, that is, large scale computers with conventional magnetic storage devices, a high-speed local area data communications network, and electronic workstations equipped with two high resolution graphic displays and laser printers were interconnected on July 1, 1986 to enable system test and evaluation to begin in the testbed group.

On-line access to the full-text of all U.S. patents granted after 1974 and then to English language abstracts of Japanese patents was deployed to the patent examining staff beginning in 1986. On-line access to APS-Text permits examiners to search the text of approximately one million U.S. patents containing more than five billion words. Today, all examiners have been trained in the use of the full-text searching tool, and it has become a routine part of the patent examination process for many examiners. Searches are conducted from single screen text terminals located throughout the Office. The APS-Text capability is ready for deployment to the public in the Patent Search Room.

The Office intends to enter the text of virtually all U.S. patents issued after 1970. In addition, selected tabular data and chemical and mathematical equations will have been added to the current full text file. Ultimately, approximately 1.2 million U.S. patents will be available to both patent examiners and the public for search in full text form.

Public evaluation of the APS full-text search capability was conducted between January 11 and April 15, 1988. Forty-two (42) public users were trained on APS-Text during January, 1988 and allowed first-come/first-serve access to several terminals. Reactions of public users to APS-Text were positive. Public users found APS-Text useful for pre-application and state-of-the-art searches.

A total of 38 public users were trained on T-Search during a public evaluation period conducted between June and December, 1988. Preliminary review indicates that public users considered T-Search to be valuable both as a primary source for registrability searching and for verifying paper searches. In addition, T-Search was found to facilitate searches by class and ownership.

Public Law 100-703, enacted on November 19, 1988, allows the Commissioner to establish reasonable fees for public access to the automated search systems while it continues the requirements that no more than 30 percent of automation resources may be from user fees and that the Office may not enter into exchange agreements relating to automatic data processing resources.

Section 104(c) of Public Law 100-703 allows the Commissioner to waive the payment by an individual of fees for accessing the automated search systems upon a showing of need or hardship, and if such waiver is in the public interest. The proposed Office policy retains the flexibility authorized by the enabling legislation to waive fees in appropriate circumstances.

The information contained in the automated data bases, which will be available to the public at the location of the Patent and Trademark Office in Arlington, Virginia, is available free of charge at that location in paper form, and is substantially available through private vendors on-line for a fee. At the present time, it is considered to be in the public interest to waive the proposed fee in situations where access to the data base is needed for a personal, educational purpose by an individual or member of an educational or non-profit organization, or where payment of the fee would pose a genuine hardship to the user.

A personal, educational purpose is one in which the person using the data base is attempting to satisfy a personal need, and is not conducting a search or otherwise using the data base for compensation in any form. Examples of appropriate waiver situations would include students or teachers doing a term paper, or a university professor collecting background information for the preparation of an application for a research grant. An example of a situation where a waiver would not be appropriate would include an individual doing work for remuneration -- e.g., a law student doing a pre-examination or infringement search for a law firm.

The Commissioner will further consider a fee waiver based on a genuine financial hardship. The person requesting a waiver will be required to provide information that would demonstrate a clear inability to pay the fee.

A waiver for the payment of fees is intended to be granted sparingly, and generally only where the terminals are available. It is not anticipated that fees will be waived for each individual except once or twice each year depending on the circumstances. The Commissioner reserves the right to control access to the data bases and deny a waiver to any individual.

In the course of developing criteria, consideration was given to charging reduced fees to an individual who could claim small entity status as defined in 35 U.S.C. § 41(h). However, since it is anticipated that the majority of people that will be using the automated data bases would be members of law firms or commercial search services, this approach was obviously flawed.

As proposed, the waiver policy would apply only to use of the automated system, and not to any service that may also be available to conduct a search or to the printing or sale of copies. Any abuse of the waiver policy could lead to a ban on the use of any public search facility for that individual. The Office encourages both comments and suggestions on the waiver policy that realistically address the public interest and the need to meet existing fiscal responsibilities.

COST CALCULATIONS: The Office calculated unit costs for all fees based on OMB Circular A-25, "User Fees", and OMB Circular A-130, "Management of Federal Information Resources." Costs were determined from the best available records (for example, financial statements for the Office) and included direct and indirect costs to the Office of carrying out the activity, as directed by OMB Circular A-25. Proposed user charges for both APS-Text and T-Search were based on the marginal costs of providing these services to the public.

In calculating the costs of providing access to T-Search and APS-Text to the public, the Office followed Congressional direction that fees be reasonable by reflecting the marginal cost for providing the new service and not including the costs of designing or installing the automated system for use by Office examiners, or the development of the new systems.

The marginal costs for one hour terminal session time on APS-Text include a portion of the lease cost of a new computer mainframe which originally was to be acquired in fiscal year 1990 for use by Office patent examiners. To meet public search requirements, the mainframe is being leased earlier than originally planned. That portion of lease costs for the eight (8) month period October 1989 through May 1990 over and above the lease costs for a mainframe sized to meet only examiner needs is being passed on to the user. After May 1990, the mainframe was intended to be procured and installed to support APS. Therefore, no costs are being passed on to the public user after that time. When public usage reaches the level where a mainframe dedicated for public use is required, fee adjustments will be proposed to pass all of the costs of that mainframe on to the public.

The level of public use will affect the amount of main memory needed to support the additional search sessions. It is projected that an additional increment of main memory will be required in fiscal years 1991 and 1992. This increment would not be required to support the examiner workload alone.

The Office also is proposing to provide some free training and access time during training on the automated search systems in accordance with § 104(C) of Public Law 100-703 which reads, "...a limited amount of free access shall be made available to all users of the systems for purposes of education and training."

Cost of equipment included in the fee calculations for public access include network interface units, text terminals, printer noise dampeners and text terminal printers.

Other costs are included for a portion of license fees that must be paid to Chemical Abstracts Service for its proprietary text and structure search software; additional personnel for the Patent Search Room, and the Office of Information Systems; computer installation costs; supplies and equipment dedicated to public use; and general and administrative overhead.

The usage rate estimates are based on the three month public user study performed from January through March 1988. For this study, 42 frequent Patent Search Room users were selected to be trained in the use of APS-Text. Three text terminals were made available to the trained public users at no charge. During the three month study period, use of the three terminals averaged approximately 50 per cent. While it is impossible to accurately predict future use by a more diverse group of public users, the cost calculations attempt to take into account such factors and assumptions as:

1. Future public users, on average, will use APS-Text less frequently than the 42 frequent users selected for the 1988 study, since the study group was weighted toward a small number of frequent public searchers, many of whom routinely used commercially available automated text search tools.

2. Collection of a fee for use (as opposed to the absence of any charge during the study) will reduce demand for text search services when compared with usage data obtained during the study period.

3. The potential universe of public users is expected to average no more than 300 per day.

4. The average length of a public user search session is projected to be approximately 22 minutes -- the average length of a search session during the 1988 test of public use.

5. Based on the preceding assumptions, if all 300 potential public users conducted a single search session during a work day, a total of 110 hours of access would be required. Twenty-five text terminals available five days a week, twelve hours a day, will provide a maximum potential of 300 hours of available text search time. Under these assumptions, the number of text terminals appears to be adequate for the forseeable future.

6. For purposes of actual use of available text terminals, the following estimates are used:

(a) In fiscal year 1990, up to ten terminals will be available during the first quarter. An estimate of 45 percent utilization of available text terminal time is projected. By increasing the number of text terminals to 15 in January 1990 and 20 in April 1990, an estimate of 40 percent utilization of available text terminal time is projected. By increasing the number of text terminals to 25 in July 1990, an estimate of 35 percent utilization of available text terminal time is projected.

(b) During fiscal year 1991 and beyond, stable levels of usage should be achieved, yielding an estimated 35 per cent average utilization of the 25 available terminals. This utilization rate equates to 105 session hours per day, or an average of 4.2 session hours per terminal per day. At an average of 22 minutes per session, this anticipates a total of 286 search sessions per day.

A summary of the fee calculations is as follows:

The marginal cost for one hour terminal session time on T-Search includes the costs of personnel in the Trademark Search Library, general and administrative overhead, and maintentance on the T-Search terminals.

The usage rate for T-Search during fiscal years 1990-1992 is projected to be 28 percent. This rate is extrapolated from actual usage rates during the T-Search public user pilot program which was conducted from June through December 1988. A total of 38 members of the public were trained on T-Search and about 24 to 28 public users were active on T-Search each month. Overall usage rate of these active users was 14 percent. It is anticipated that the overall number of users and the usage rate will double once T-Search is made available in the Trademark Search Library to all public users of that search facility and training is provided on a routine basis.

Rounding Procedures: Fee amounts were rounded so that the amount rounded would be de minimis and convenient to the user. This procedure is consistent with section 103(b) of Pub. L. 100-703 which allows the Office to adjust patent fees in the aggregate, and with section 103(a) of Pub. L. 100-703 which allows the Office to adjust trademark fees in the aggregate.

The Office has detailed cost calculation worksheets for each fee item, which are available for public inspection in Suite 904 of Building 2, Crystal Park at 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia.

PROCEDURES FOR PUBLIC USE OF APS-TEXT AND T-SEARCH

Patent Search Room Configuration

Initially ten (10) text search terminals will be installed and available for public use in the Patent Search Room. A printer will be associated with each text search terminal. An additional terminal will be located in Patent Search Room employee office space for control and administration activities. Fifteen (15) more terminals and printers are planned to be added for public use during fiscal year 1990, if necessary.

Trademark Search Library Configuration

Initially three (3) T-Search terminals with associated printers will be installed and available for public use in the Trademark Search Library. The terminals will be clustered in one area of the Trademark Search Library. An additional terminal will be located in Trademark Search Library employee office space for control and administration activities. Additional terminals and printers will be added as demand warrants and space permits.

Procedures for public use of APS-Text and T-Search have been made as similar as possible in order to provide for consistency in application and ease of administration. Unless specifically stated to apply to only one system, procedures apply to both APS-Text and T-Search.

Training

To enable prospective public users to become effective on APS-Text, approximately fourteen (14) hours of free basic training is being offered. Ten (10) members of the public may be trained during each class. Training is expected to be held in the Crystal City complex, probably during evening hours.

To enable prospective users to become effective on T-Search, four (4) hours of basic training is being offered. T-Search training is expected to be held in the Crystal City complex.

Enrollment in all training classes will be on a lottery basis. Public users wishing to be trained on APS-Text or T-Search, will be required to submit an application form by a specific deadline to allow the Office adequate time to select, schedule and notify attendees.

System Use and Fee Procedures

To ensure equity of public access to the automated systems, as well as efficient operations, rules for use will be posted at the terminals. Users of the systems will be expected to comply with the rules as with other regulations regarding the use of facilities.

Users are strongly encouraged to register in advance for system use. Each week, the next week's schedule will be available in the Patent Search Room and the Trademark Search Library. Should requests for blocks of terminal time exceed the availability of terminals, limits on the amount of reserved time may be instituted. Eight (8) of the initial ten (10) terminals in the Patent Search Room and two (2) of the initial three (3) terminals in the Trademark Search Library will be allocated to public users with advance reserved times. The remaining terminal in both the Patent Search Room and the Trademark Search Library will be available for walk-up users and for assisted searches for infrequent users. The terminal time reservation system and the number of terminals available for walk-up public use and for assisted searches is subject to change based upon operational experience.

All public use of APS-Text and T-Search with the exception of scheduled training classes is on a pre-payment basis. In prepaying for use of the systems, the public may use a blank signed check, major credit card or charge to a deposit account. At the end of the search or the pre-paid amount of time, users will receive an accounting from Patent Search Room or Trademark Search Library staff for terminal time used and prints produced. The user must then finalize payment.

Discussion of Specific Rules

37 CFR 1.21 Miscellaneous fees and charges.

Section 1.21, if amended as proposed, would add new paragraph (o) to set the fees for access to the Automated Patent System full-text search capability (APS-Text) and to provide for the waiver of fees under certain circumstances.

Section 1.21, if amended as proposed, would add new paragraph (p) to set the fees for APS-Text search assistance by Office staff.

Section 1.21, if amended as proposed, would add new paragraph (q) to set the fee for a printed copy from APS-Text.

37 CFR 2.6 Trademark fees

Section 2.6, if amended as proposed, would add new paragraph (u) to set the fees for access to the automated trademark search system (T-Search) and provide for the waiver of fees under certain circumstances.

Section 2.6, if amended as proposed, would add new paragraph (v) to set the fees for T-Search search assistance by Office staff.

Section 2.6, if amended as proposed, would add new paragraph (w) to set the fee for a printed copy from T-Search.

Other Considerations:

The proposed rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq. There are no information collection requirements relating to patent and trademark fee rules.

The Office has determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the proposed rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entitites (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The proposed rules make the Office's on-line, automated patent full-text search and trademark search systems available to the public at rates significantly less than commercial systems.

The Office has determined that this proposed rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

Electronic Data Dissemination Policies and Guidelines

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce

Action: Electronic Data Dissmenination Policies and Guidelines - Final Notice.

Summary: The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) has undertaken a program to automate its operations. As a result, electronic patent and trademark data are being created and new techniques are being implemented to expand the use of the PTO's collection of electronic information, which will contain all U.S. patents and registered trademarks and selected foreign patents. These data bases comprise one of the largest information resources of the Nation.

Date: May 3, 1989.

Address: Comments should be addressed to: Donald J. Quigg, Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. 20231.

For Further Information Contact: Bradford R. Huther at 703-557-1572.

Supplementary Information:

In response to Public Law 96-517, the 1980 legislation which amended patent and trademark laws, the PTO prepared and submitted a plan for the automation of its operations to Congress on December 13, 1982. The plan centered on two basis concepts: the creation of electronic data bases that (1) would eventually replace the PTO's all-paper patent and trademark files, and thereby improve their intregrity and quality; and (2) would support searches, examinations, Office actions and other Office functions through electronic workstations which would provide text and image retrieval capabilities and perform other automation functions.

Over 700,000 active Federal trademark registrations have been converted to an electronic data base of textual and digital image data. An IBM-based computer system has been installed to enable examiners to search the data base for textual data and codes describing designs, and to retrieve and display all information as a substitute for paper file searches. Trademark examiners have been using T-Search exclusively since January 1988, and the capability is ready to be deployed for public use in the Trademark Search Library.

An Automated Patent System (APS) was installed for test and evaluation purposes, using one patent examining group as an operational testbed. Major operational components of APS -- large scale computers with conventional magnetic storage devices, a high-speed local area data communications network, and electronic workstations equipped with two high resolution graphic displays and laser printers -- were interconnected on July 1, 1986 to enable system test and evaluation to begin in the testbed group. Optical disk storage units were subsequently installed to house the test data base of digital images of U.S. and foreign patents. In December 1987, the testbed patent examiners began using the APS image search and retrieval capability (APS-Image) in a live production environment. Based on recommendations of an Industry Review Panel appointed by the Deputy Secretary of Commerce to review the Office's patent automation program, changes were made and the testbed examiners are using a stable, reliable system suited to their need. The digital image retrieval capability of APS has been stabilized in the testbed, which now is being used as an operational testbed for deployment to other patent examining groups. A decision on the next incremental deployment of the digital image retrieval and other electronic searching capabilities is planned to be made in mid-1989. Additional system capabilities for office automation and other administrative support will be added to those already installed in the testbed over the next several months to supplement the search and retrieval capabilities. Examiners will be provided access to commercial data bases, such as industry-specific data bases, from the electronic workstations.

PTO continues to digitize the entire backfile of almost five million U.S. patents. The source for the digital image scanning operation is the archival set of patent documents which is believed to contain the best available copy of each patent. First, images of all U.S. patents in the testbed group's search files were converted to digital form and placed on optical disks for use in electronic classification and combined text classification searches. Subsequently, the remaining patents were captured. These patents will be written to optical disk and loaded on APS before APS-Image can be deployed to the remaining patent examining groups and the public. Through exchange agreements with the European and Japanese Patent Offices, European patents issued since 1920 and all Japanese patents have been or will be converted to a common facsimile standard and key patents will be entered for on-line retrieval.

On-line access to the full-text of all U.S. patents granted after 1974 and the English language abstracts of Japanese and Chinese patents -- a data base of more than two million records representing about 52 gigabytes of data -- was deployed to the patent examining staff beginning in June 1986. Access to this full-text data base (APS-Text) permits examiner to search the text of more than one million U.S. patents containing more than five billion words. Today, all examiners have been trained in the use of the full-text searching tool, and it has become a routine part of the patent examination process. Searches are conducted from single screen text terminals located throughout the Office, supported by a NAS-9080 dual processor. The APS-Text capability is ready for deployment to the public in the Patent Public Search Room.

The PTO intends to enter the text of U.S. patents issued after 1970.

To fulfill its mission to disseminate information and to guide the management of its electronic information resources, on June 8, 1984, the PTO issued guidelines and policies for dissemination and distribution of electronic patent data. These were published in 49 Federal Register 2485 (June 14, 1984). Subsequently, the Office of Management and Budget issued revised policies and expanded guidelines for electronic data dissmemination in OMB Circular A-130 dated December 1985 and entitled "Management of Federal Information Resources."

On August 20, 1987, PTO published in 52 Federal Register 31442 a notice (1) to inform the public of the PTO's intention to amend its pricing policy for data base products, and to expand the scope of its dissemination policies and guidelines to encompass patent and trademark electronic data; (2) to explain the current situation with regard to public access to automated patent and trademark search rooms and libraries; and (3) to solicit public comments on the intended proposals.

On December 10, 1987, PTO published in 52 Federal Register 46815 a notice amending the pricing policy for data base products and expanding the scope of the policies and guidelines to encompass patent and trademark data. That notice also extended the period to December 31, 1987, for receiving public comments on alternatives for funding public access to patent or trademark search rooms or libraries.

On June 23, 1988, PTO published in 53 Federal Register 23677 a notice informing the public of its intention to publish a comprehensive edition of the policies and guidelines to replace the versions published in the June 14, 1984 and December 10, 1987 notices.

In that notice, the PTO also published a summary of the comments received on the three alternatives for financing public access to the automated search systems in PTO's public search rooms and libraries. Subsequently, Public Law 100-703 was enacted on November 19, 1988. The law allows the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks to establish reasonable fees for access by the public to the automated search systems.

Response to Comments

Comment: If user fees are established for public access to the automated patent and trademark systems, will those fees also be charged by the Patent Depository Libraries (PDLs)?
Response: Arrangements will be worked out between the PTO and individual libraries for providing access to the automated search system. Arrangements will depend on each library's authority to collect user fees for the service on their own or the PTO's behalf. Fees for access in PDLs would be adjusted to account for any different equipment costs, maintentance and added telecommunications costs.
Comment: How would PDLs administer the free access provision of Public Law 100-703?
Response: Based on PTO's policy for administering this provision, arrangements would be worked out with individual libraries.
Comment: One respondent asked if PTO conducted a study to determine the potential demand in PDLs for trademark information and patent information.
Response: Several surveys on the demand for patent and trademark information have been conducted which provide unofficial indications to the PTO for the need for patent and trademark information. Reports to the PTO indicate that the demand for trademark information is increasing.
Comment: One respondent wanted clarification of what will ultimately be available to the PDLs -- paper, microfilm, electronic data.
Response: The form of the patent and trademark information in each PDL ultimately will depend on decisions made between the PTO and individual PDLs and the technology and economics of remote access for providing access to the automated search systems.
Comment: If PTO contracts for the provision of public access, who owns the PTO data base?
Response: The PTO will continue to own the PTO data base.
Comment: One respondent claimed that section B is inconsistent with OMB Circular A-130 and that the order of sub-paragraphs B(1) and B(2) should be reversed.
Response: Section B relates only to the PTO search facilities and PDLs. This policy is consistent with OMB Circular A-130 by providing an information "safety net" to the public through the dissemination of information in the search facilities and libraries. PTO states in paragraph F that, outside the search facilities and libraries, it will encourage the private sector to offer commercial patent and trademark search and retrieval services, and it will not compete with the private sector.

Sub-paragraphs B(1) and B(2) state that PTO will choose the most efficient means for providing search and retrieval services in its search facilities and PDLs, directly and/or through a contractor.
Comment: One respondent suggested that there might be misunderstanding between sections C and E.

Response: Section C specifically refers to commercial data bases whereas section E refers to PTO-owned data bases.
Comment: In section D, what does the term "existing collections in the PDLs" mean?
Response: In the June 23, 1988 edition of the Federal Register, the reference to "existing collections" meant the collections held by each individual library. Collections vary from library to library, and acquistion of collections is up to each individual PDL. Section D has been revised because section 104(c) of Public Law 100-703 allows the Commissioner to establish reasonable fees for on-line access to the automated search systems.
Comment: Section E provides for the possibility that a commercial search and retrieval service could be substituted for the PTO automated systems in the PDLs. Would the PDLs be required to absorb the cost?
Response: Arrangements would be worked out between the PTO and each individual library and would depend on the library's ability to provide commercial services on its premises.
Comment: One respondent asked for a brief explanation of OMB Circular A-76, entitled "Performance of Commercial Activities."
Response: The A-76 process enhances quality and efficiency by using competition to select the most cost-effective operation to perform a service. It requires that studies be conducted to see whether work should be performed by the Government or by industry. This program was formalized in 1955 and, in 1966, the Bureau of the Budget issued the policy as Circular No. A-76.
Comment: One respondent suggested that the word "indirectly" in section F should be removed since there already are many private trademark search enterprises. Another respondent suggested that the word "encouraged" in that same section should be changed to "allowed." A third resondent said that PTO should "directly encourage" the private sector by making its data available in electronic form.
Response: Section F as written expresses how the PTO will indirectly achieve its dissemination goals. No change has been made to the wording.
Comment: One respondent suggested that PTO should not even consider "exclusive" arrangements with regard to the sale of bulk data as suggested by Section H.
Response: Paragraph H has been changed by deleting the word "normally."
Comment: One respondent suggested that marginal cost recovery described in section I should be limited to commercial entities seeking bulk data.
Response: All cost of goods and services are fully user-fee funded under the terms of OMB Circular A-25, "User Fees."
Comment: Several respondents asked for clarification of the statement that the trademark automated system could be ready for public deployment by September 30, 1988.
Response: Under a proposed rule package entitled Patent and Trademark Automated Search System Fees, the PTO is proposing to provide access to T-Search.
Comment: One respondent asked for clarification and more specificity to the response concerning the PTO's authority to automate PDLs.
Response: Section 13 of title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to conduct a patent depository library program for disseminating patent information to the public. The Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, as amended, 44 USC, chapter 35, requires each Federal agency to "implement applicable government-wide...information policies...with respect to...dissemination of information...and other information resource management functions..." OMB Circular A-130 establishes a Government-wide policy of disseminating Government Information products and services in the manner most cost effective for the Government. Accordingly, the Paperwork Reduction Act would authorize disseminating patent information to the PDLs in some electronic form, in lieu of paper or microfilm, if it is the most cost-effective mode. The authority for providing access to patent and trademark information in the PDLs like that for the Patent Search Room and Trademark Search Library is the authority inherent in various provisions of the patent law other than section 13 such as section 10 of title 35. The PDLs serve as extensions of the PTO for disseminating patent and trademark information in other geographic locations.
Comment: One respondent asked that PTO adhere to Rep. Kastenmeier's instructions reported in 134 Cong. Rec. H9676 (daily ed. Oct 5, 1988) (statement of Rep. Kastenmeier), to follow the letter and spirit of the copyright law regarding nonpatent literature.
Response: The PTO will adhere to the letter and the spirit of the copyright law as it applies to the inclusion of nonpatent literature in the Automated Patent System.

Other Considerations:

The PTO has determined that this notice is not a major rule within the meaning of section 1 (b) of Executive Order 12291. Therefore, a Regulatory Analysis has not nor will be prepared. Because a notice of proposed rulemaking and an opportunity for public comment are not required to be given for this amended policy statement by the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553(b) (A)), no initial or final Regulatory Flexibility Analysis has to be or will be prepared. The PTO also has determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612. This notice does not contain a collection of information requirement for purposes of the Paperwork Reduction Act.

ELECTRONIC DATA DISSEMINATION POLICIES AND GUIDELINES

Dissemination in Govenment Public Search Facilities and Depository Libraries

It is the goal of the PTO to achieve effective, widespread dissemination of information concerning patents and Federally registered trademarks to all segments of the U.S. public.

A. The dissemination goal will be accomplished directly by the PTO by providing electronic search and retrieval services to the public in search facilities located in the PTO, in other facilities which may be established by the Government and in Patent Depository Libraries (PDLs). PDLs are Federal, State and local government, university or non-profit organization libraries designated by the PTO to offer public access to patent collections.

B. To the extent funding is authorized and appropriated, search and retrieval services will be provided in the PTO's search facilities and PDL's either:

(1) by the PTO, using its own data bases, computers, communications equipment, and software, and/or

(2) by PTO contractors.

C. Access to commercial data bases that are available to the PTO's examiners, for example industry-specific data bases, will be furnished either through an APS workstation or a terminal furnished by data base vendors in the PTO public search facilities at commercial rates, provided the user has established a commercial account with the data base vendor.

The PTO will not act as an agent for any data base vendor in providing training for, assisting in, or collecting fees for the use of such commercial data bases.

D. Services furnished in the PTO public search facilities and in PDLs will be at no cost to the public for access to paper and microform records. The cost of accessing PTO owned electronic data bases and systems will be recouped from user fees set to recover the marginal costs of such services.

E. The type of service for public search and retrieval, either PTO or commercial services, will be chosen based on the method and criteria established by the 1983 revision to OMB Circular A-76, entitled "Performance of Commercial Activities."

Distribution of PTO Data for Commercial Dissemination

F. In addition to B. and C. above, the PTO will pursue its dissemination goal indirectly by encouraging the private sector to offer commercial patent and trademark search and retrieval services and will seek to avoid competition with private sector firms in providing such services to the public outside the PTO search facilities and PDLs.

G. Fees charged for bulk data developed by the PTO will be based on the marginal cost of providing such distribution services.

H. Arrangements will be non-exclusive. Bulk resale of PTO data will be permitted subject to the terms of each bulk sales agreement.

I. Fees charged to the public for U.S. patent and trademark data products will be based on the marginal cost of providing such products.

J. The PTO will receive non-U.S. electronic patent data through exchange agreements with other patent offices and international intergovernmental organizations. In general, the PTO will not distribute such data, except in conjunction with services that may be provided by the PTO or its contractors in the PTO public search facilities and PDLs. Rather, it will seek to have contractual arrangements established directly between the organization and the commercial data base vendor and will not act as a service agent or representative unless there is a special need that cannot be met otherwise.

SERVICE STATISTICS

•Assignment Backlog Update —We are pleased to report that approximately 12,000 assignment documents were mailed during the month of April.

Great effort has been directed toward improving communication between the operating units of the Assignment Branch and toward improved receiving and counting procedures. However, these innovations take time and, as reported earlier, have led to the discovery of additional unprocessed documents with old dates. While we are attempting to expedite the processing of these old documents, the flow of new work continues at a high level. Thus, a backlog of documents still exists, and the number of days until submitted documents are available in the search rooms continues to fluctuate.

We anticipate that the quantity and quality of work will improve dramatically once newly created positions have been filled. Currently, interviews are being conducted for some positions, while others will soon be posted for consideration by potential applicants.

We are continuing to investigate problems and search out old documents in order to process assignments on a first-in/first-out basis. We ask that any problems and/or corrections to assignment records be brought to our attention. We regret any inconvenience to the public for old documents which were incorrectly withheld from first-in/first-out processing.

IMPROVEMENTS TO SERVICE

•Availability of EOS Specials on April 17, 1989 — Effective April 17, 1989, deposit account customers who order copies of patents and trademarks via Electronic Ordering Service (EOS) are able to order copies on an expedited basis. Copy orders placed on one day will be filled by the next business day and shipped to the customer by an overnight delivery service on the second business day after the order is placed. The cost of the special EOS service is $25.00 per copy. As with regular EOS orders, connect charges will be billed separately. Connect charges for both EOS regular and EOS special orders will appear as one entry on the monthly deposit account statements. If you would like to obtain information about EOS specials, please call Lisa Douds on (202) 377-2535.

•Design Patents Cited on Patents Official Gazette — Effective April 11, 1989, the beginning number of design patents will be included on the spine of the Patents Official Gazettes, along with the beginning number of utility patents, as illustrated below:

Patents	From 4,819,274	April 11, 1989
Designs	From D 300,580

The addition of the design information resulted from a suggestion by a member of the public.

•Maintenance Fee Transmittal Forms — As a result of a suggestion from a member of the public, we are now using a new stamp on our Maintenance Fee Transmittal Forms, FORM PTO-1536. This form is returned to the sender. The new stamp, with the message "Copy For Your Information" replaces the former notation "Date Canceled Paper Returned."

•Organizational Directory —The Office has recently updated its in-house organizational telephone directory. The directory reflects the most recent office moves, changes in personnel and new telephone numbers. For your convenience and future reference, the directory is reprinted in this issue.

HELPFUL HINTS

•HELP and INFO Lines — The Office of Public Services, Public Service Center offers two types of telephone services. 557-INFO is a voice response system for use in obtaining general information. This information is provided through the use of pre-recorded messages explaining the various services provided by the PTO.

557-HELP is for use when the situation requires speaking with a person. This number is staffed with public service specialists trained to assist in solving problems and providing more specific and detailed information.

•Incorrect Remittance with Copy Orders— Over the last three months, an average of 8.3% of the orders received for copies of patents and trademarks through regular letter orders had insufficient fees submitted with the orders. Most of the errors were in simple arithmetic, for example, failure to correctly multiply the number of copies times the fee per copy. The orders with errors had to be returned to have the fee remittance corrected--this resulted in many unhappy customers.

Please double check the total fee remitted for your patent and trademark copy orders before submitting them.

For your convenience, a listing of copy fees is as follows:

	Prior to April 17, 1989	On and After April 17, 1989
Utility/design patent	$1.50	$1.50
Plant patent	6.00	10.00
Trademark registration	1.50	1.50

Note that there is no increase in the fee for a copy of a utility or design patent, or for a trademark registration.

Reference Collection of U.S. Patents Available for Public Use in Patent Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent Depository Libraries (PDLs), receive current issues of U.S. Patents and maintain collections of earlier-issued patents. The scope of these collections varies from library to library, ranging from patents of only recent years to all or most of the patents issued since 1790.

These patent collections, which are organized in patent number sequence, are available for use by the public free of charge. Each of the PDLs, in addition, offers supplemental reference publications of the U.S. Patent Classification System, including the Manual of Classification, Index to the U.S. Patent Classification, Classification Definitions, and provides technical staff assistance in their use to aid the public, in gaining effective access to information contained in patents. CASSIS (Classification And Search Support Information System), which provides direct, on-line access to Patent and Trademark Office data, is available at all PDLs. Facilities for making paper copies of patents from either microfilm or paper collections are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent collections among the PDLs and in their hours of service to the public, anyone contemplating use of the patents at a particular library is urged to contact that library, in advance, about its collection and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.
